Designed with input from nurses:

For over 45 years, SR Instruments has been providing the medical community with leading innovations for patient weighing. We listen intently to the needs of our customers when developing new products. This includes discussions with nurses from around the country. As a result, we are better able to understand the needs of the pediatric community for new products designed for weighing the tiniest of patients.

Multiple products to meet a wide-range of pediatric weighing requirements

- The SR635i Integrated Scale and Cart is designed for acute care and clinic applications where stable, accurate weighing is needed.
- The SR241 Visiting Nurse scale provides a portable, in-the-field solution where weighing both infants and adults are required. The scale features a removable tray and can be ordered with an optional carry case.
- The SR615i Pediatric Scale provides a smaller weighing option when needed and can be ordered with the SRC100 Stand-alone Cart.
- The SR300 Series Gram Scales offer four different weight ranges to handle a variety of tasks from nutritional portion measurements to sub-gram measurement for tracking neo-natal diaper output.
