

There's growing concern about where their scrubs have been

With infections and viruses playing a major role in the U.S., your staff and front-line warriors are working day in and day out to save lives. Their garments serve as important protective apparel for themselves and others they come in contact with.

At the end of their shift, are they faced with concern about wearing their scrubs home to their friends and family?

If they are washed at home, are you worried that their garments are cleaned effectively and aren't bringing any contaminants into the hospital?

NOW IS THE TIME FOR HYGIENICALLY CLEAN SCRUBS

The solution many hospitals are currently using is the Cintas Scrub Dispensing system. This program is designed to help promote infection control by providing convenient and hassle-free access to clean, quality scrubs in your facility.

With Cintas managing the scrubs from the time they're purchased, laundered, stocked in the machine, worn and then returned to Cintas to be hygienically cleaned, concerns are put at ease.
